

A TV PILOT IN COMEDY COUP'S ACCELERATOR PROGRAM ON THE CBC.

Key Points:

- It's a Pee Wee's Playhouse set in the BC forest
- Filmmakers pledge to plant 1 tree for every joke once picked up by a network
- Nostalgia of Fred Penner, comedic influence of 30 Rock
- 3 filmmakers from Vancouver - Dan Barham, Graham Clark and Josh Loewen
- Starring Graham Clark - a 3 time Canadian Comedy winner and host of popular podcast Stop Podcasting Yourself
- Theme song by Steve Bays of Hot Hot Heat & Mounties

Graham Clark's character has become popular online, spawning unprompted fan art. Images taken from wolfhard.tumblr.com and twitter.com/thingsbydan

Wilderness Man lives in an exciting forest world where he dedicates his magic abilities towards guiding and comforting plants and animals. Anything can happen in this wonderful universe, including time travel, birthday parties, and high treason against the King of the Forest (a squirrel). The forest creatures help Graham solve mysteries, which proves to be a challenge because they've already got a lot on their mind. The park ranger can't see Wilderness Man's wild world and only sees him as a hermit that sleeps in mud.
