Kyle Woolven tries for CBC Comedy Show

Posted on Friday, November 7th, 2014

Kyle Woolven is hunting for his network television comedy special breakthrough and Quinte can help him get there one vote at a time.

The Belleville native is heading up a sketch comedy troupe on the verge of earning themselves a $500,000 production financing deal for a half-hour comedy special to air during CBC's 2015 prime-time schedule. Standing between Woolven's team and their first network deal is 50 other finalists across Canada vying to earn a top 15 spot.

Kyle joins Sean Kelly and Orlena Cain on Mix97 this morning

Synopsis

Ron, a socially inept insomniac, takes to the streets of Toronto each night to cope with his disorder. He continually finds himself surrounded by the nighthawks, ne'er-do-wells, and people stuck working the graveyard shift; all played by six-member sketch troupe Cash Grab.

Toronto After Dark presents a series of comedic premises that loosely connect to show all the absurd stories taking place in a single night in the city. Each episode features original characters, parodies pop-culture, and satirizes politics throughout Canadian night-time history. At night.

Toronto After Dark is sketch comedy on its fifth cup of coffee and will make you reconsider leaving your door unlocked.

(At night).
